persons interest in a vitally persons interest in the lousing of London poor. Replying to a depution of the London County Coulast Wednesday, his Majesty specificonmended to their attention question of the proper housing of working clauses, "which," he said, one in which I have always felt despeat personal interest." In words of the King may be regarded a piedge that the legislation on the subject which has been promised the Government will have the advised of the careful, though strice constitutional and impartial, attent of the King. His Majesty will, course, take no side in the party stof municipal politicians, but we me he sure that he will use all legitim influence to promote such reforms a may commend themselves to the approval of competent judges without distinction of party. The London County Council, whatever its short comings in some respects may habeen, has a record in this matter of which it may fairly be proud. The Council has provided better accommendation for about 20,000 persons, and there are buildings new in course of construction which, with those to be creeded under schemes already decided upon, will ultimately bring the number up to 60,000. At the same time is must be confessed that there is another side to the picture, a side which is never referred to by "Progressive" councillors or candidates, but which has been touched upon by Mr. P. Harris when speaking in Pentorville on behalf of the Unionist candidates at the approaching election. Mr. Harris when speaking in Pentorville on behalf of the Unionist candidates at the approaching election. Mr. Harris when sponted out that, in the case of the Boundary-st. improvement, only it persons out of a total of 5.719 who had been turned out of the demolished slums and rockeries found homes in the new and palatial buildings exected on their site. The cause of this is quite simple—the Council's reate were too high for the old tenants. Hence the latter simply drifted into the elums in the neighbourhood, and the new buildings were occupied by a class of transt for whom they were never intended. The fact is that clear ance and re-housing have not always gone had in hand, as it is necessary that they should if we are to get at the root of the evil of overcrowding. In that connection it is much to be desired that there should be some seri of concerted action, as Mr. Harris connection in the matter depends.

one of the curiosities of the ceremony in that, for the time being, the Peers are "stranger" in their own House, the "stranger" in their own House, the House of Lords is part of the "King's Palace of Westminster," which he lends as a matter of convenients to the Peers for their deliberations. Upon such occasions as that of Thurslay he resumes possession of his palace, and until he has commanded the keys to be handed back to Hlack, Rod everyone who is present is there by the Royal grace and favour just as much as if in Huckingham Palace or Windsor Castle. It is a curious idea that the Peers should have no right to place in what is, in ordinary circumstances, their own House.

The Canadians are rightly proud of

The Canadians are rightly proud The Canadiana are rightly proud of irathena's Horse, but they cannot e more proud of them than we are at one, and in his gracious appreciation in their splendid services the King was ut speaking, as he alone has the right of the histories of the speaking, as the representative of the original Empire. But his presentation? a "king's Colour" to the regiment as something personal, and in its way in que. It was supposed to be an image-rible volation of all rules to make the particular presentation to mere sounted infantry. The King has orushed that "impossibility" aside, it hope he will de with many others deteral long.

cit nope he will de with many others sciena long.

It is not likely that he has any manathy with that preposterous stabiling of Volunteer and Colonial roops of which the War Office has room many years been found. The best alt to the gratitude of the nation and the recognition of the Sovereign which soldier can show in his behaviour in are of the enemy, and not the number this regiment or its particular description. We have got to understanding all that kind of thing, though dimrable enough in its way, must never be allowed to interfere with the recognition of practical fighting qualities, which, unless I am much mistaken, the king intends to help in backing us.

sten, the King intends to help in aching us.

The outburst of Mr. Kruger does of I am afraid, move me so much as should. Considering what he know it the methods of the Government of hich he was once the head, his pre-midd trust in a higher power strikes as uncommonly like a very sickes go form of cant. What I take to be enuine in hie remarks is the note despair which runs through them of it would effect a great saving o man life, without altering the fina eault one whit, if Botha and De We-uld realise that even their ex-Presient is convinced that the game is up at has been more than proverhial!

that is convinced that the game is up.

It has been more than proverbially dangerous to prophecy with regard to the present war, but I cannot help thinking that, whether they attend to Mr. Kruger or not, the fact that the end is not very far distant will very soon be brought to the knowledge of those commanders. It is pretty clear that the pressure of Lord Kitchener is being felt heavier and heavier every day, and I very much doubt whether their supplies will hold out much longer in any case. After all, you cannot go on interminably when your only object is to keep out of your enemy's way; and even Dut the petting tired of being housted about from pillar to post day and night.

Fur days past the Opposition have insted about from pillar to post ay and night.

For days past the Opposition have entrying to devise an efficial accordance to the Address on the intesect of our South African policy, and I understand that the task has at act been abandoned in despair. Onling could show more clearly how forcedess it would be for them to thought to form a Government, even imposing the people of this country free so misquided as to entrust them with the task. Here, upon the main mighest of national interest at the areas of time, their leaders are unable to formulate any policy whater would not drive a large proportion of their followers into open the discussed—it would take the session if they were—and to of them must either be with—an or the debate brought to an live ten threat of the closure. The hand of putting down amendments the Address gets more and more also severy year, and, if the numinal increase as they have done of it, there will be nothing else for it also abandon or change it.

but to abandon or change it.

It is a small point, perhaps, but the new battletime is glad to see that the new battletime grow in our own Empire.

With such wine as our Colonies now produce, we need not go to France or Germany to find a bettle fit for such purpose, and I suspect it will not be long before the Colonies beat foreign countries altogether in the production of fice wee. I should like to see the

Wm. Elliott, 25, was charged with stealing a purse from the pocket of Katherine Blyth, of Gloucester-ferr, Hyde Park.—The ledy said she was riding in an omnibus from Edgware-fu towards Westbourne-grove. While passing along Blashop's-fd, prisoner entered the bus and sat on her right side, near her pocket. Shortly afterwards he left the 'bus, and then a lady sitting opposite asked if she had lost anything. Prosecutirs at once missed her purse, and communicated with the conductor. The latter went after prisoner and brought him back. Elliott denied all knowledge of the purse until the lady in the 'bus said she saw him take would not prosecute him. A P.C. was called, and the prisoner pointed him to would not prosecute him. A P.C. was called, and the prisoner pointed him to where he had thrown the purse in the space around Holy Trimity Church, and there it was found—Warder Cook told the magistrate prisoner was at the N. London Sessions in May, 1897, charged with purse stealing, and was bound over and to find a surely to come up for judgment if called upon. At that time there were seven previous convictions against him, including one for a long term. Since the '97 conviction he had had 18 months' imprisonment and six months at Liverpool.—Committed for trial.

De Wet appears to be crossing the line south of Jagersfontein read to west this morning, having failed to effect crossing by drifts east of Bethulie. In Colony, Calvinia was occupied by De Lisle on the 8th, enemy retiring to Kenhardt. Haig advining Midland commande northwards past Aberdeen.

The Central News Pretoria correspondent says a desperate engagement was fought between Smith-Dorrien's rolumn and a force of Boers 2,000 stong, the scene being the small town of Bothwell, 20 miles to the east of Gradins. The Boers were routed and afrece headlong in the direction of a Amsterdam, after sustaining heavy loses. The fight indicates that the Roers have no intention of retreating northwards, as had been supposed. There is good reason to believe that the enemy's supplies of food at the enemy's supplies of food at the stealing of the latter's cettle by the burghers. tile by the burghers.
